Congressman Brady recognizes achievements of elementary and middle school graduates in the First Congressional District

June 3, 2008

PHILADELPHIA --- Nearly 200 public, charter and parochial school elementary and middle school graduates in the First Congressional District received Certificates of Special Congressional Recognition from Congressman Robert A. Brady (D., PA).

The certificates were presented to two students in each participating school throughout the First Congressional District in recognition of academic achievement or good citizenship.

"Hopefully the certificates will serve as both an acknowledgement of the students' hard work but also as an encouragement for them to continue their push for excellence," said the Congressman.
